VOLUME XXV—NO. 144. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1924. TWO CENTS

APPEAL IS MADE FOR THE RED CROSS

People Receive the Solicitors Kindly, But Are Not Giving As They Should to One of the Greatest of Causes Extant

YOU SHOULD JOIN-AND NOW

Every Man And Woman Should Give At Least a Dollar, And It Is Hoped That One Dollar More Will Be Added to the Work

The Red Cross workers started out on their campaign on Sunday afternoon, November 16, with the hope that their work would be short and successful. The weather interfered with some, but their districts were either covered later, or will be. Our solicitors were generally treated kindly—most of our people seem to know about the splendid work done by the National Chapter American Red Cross. To them we must send fifty cents from each membership. The Local Chapter retains the balance.

We are publishing a list of the workers whose reports are in and the total of their collections. In some cases the workers go back to homes that have been missed.

It is very important that we all realize that fifty cents will not finance our local program, which means, for fifty-two weeks we carry along our Home Service and Nursing Campaign for less than one cent per week from one membership. It is not enough, and unless many more join the Red Cross, it will be necessary that many more, indeed, increase their subscriptions to two dollars. This would give the Chapter about three cents per week for its work, and would, we feel, fully finance the Chapter. We send out an appeal for every man and woman to join for at least one dollar, but we trust you will add one dollar more for our work. Remember that lasts one whole year—the year 1925. If you will raise your account or will join for 1925, see the workers at the banks and stores Get your friends to join. It is worth your while to be a member of the Red Cross.

We report the results of the canvas as they have been turned in to date, as follows: Mrs. Joseph Stech and Miss Hazel Harford—from First to Fourth, McKean—$21.

Mrs. John Laird and Mrs. W. D. Pollock—From Sixth to Eighth, McKean, $23.

Ralph Hickey and Mr. Gottheld—Eighth to Borough line on McKean, $23

Mrs. John Jenkins and Mrs. Walter Gallic, Fallowfield avenue, $19.

Mrs. E. D Dawson—Eighth to Borough line in Fallowfield, $29.

Misses Alberta Henderson and Rhoda Probert and Mrs. R. W. Kell, Washington avenue, $29.

Mrs. Louis Collins and Mrs. M. RosenbloomwWashington from Fourth to Sixth, $56.

Mrs. F. J. John and Mrs. J. D. Berryman—First to Fourth in Lincoln avenue, $51.25.

Misses Elva Majors and Clara Frew—Fourth to Eighth in Lincoln, $36.

LADIES FRIGHTENED AS SMOKE FILLS HOUSE

Mrs. Jack Majors and daughter, the first-named wife of the street commissioner, became frightened this morning when the dampers of the hot air furnace in their home became clogged, filling the house with smoke and turned in a fire alarm. The fire department responded with its accustomed alacrity, but its services were not needed, the furnace soon being "set to rights" by the boys and the fears of the ladies allayed.

Milk Being Tested Here Purity Value

Health Officer William M. Darby has been making tests of milk dispensed by local dealers in Charleroi. In 18 samples, 10 showed nutrition value, five were fair, and three bad.

Mr. Darby, in his examinations, employs a Wizard sediment tester and a butter fat tester, the milk ranging from 105 to 120 degrees, the latter four per cent butter fat. All the milk comes within state requirements as to butter fat, but a portion of the samples showed sediment.

The matter of better milk, meeting all requirements, has the interest of the members of council, who will discuss it at the next session of the body.

Man Fractures Skull In Fall Under Car

Howard Smith, colored, aged 20 years of Marne avenue, Monongahela, better known to the residents of that place as Howard Craighead, was instantly killed last night at 7:15 when he fell beneath the wheels of a Pittsburgh car at New Eagle.

Smith was riding in a Chandler touring car driven by William Whitefield and was coming down a steep grade into New Eagle. A short distance down the hill the car started to reached the main street Craighead, upon seeing the approaching car, turned his machine in the same direction in an effort to run the automobile parallel with the street car He was successful in his attempt and the motorman of the car, seeing the plight of the young men, slowed down to give them a chance to pass. Smith became greatly excited when he thought the cars would come together and jumped. He fell under the car, struck his head on the motor box and fractured his skull. Death was instantaneous.

Whitfield and the crew of the car were exonerated from all blame in the tragedy. Smith is survived by his widow, Ethel Crawford, a bride of two weeks, and his stepfather.

Many Maccabees At The Annual Fall Review

The annual fall review of the Women's Benefit association of the Maccabees was held at the Armory, Monongahela, Thursday afternoon and evening, with an attendance of over 350 members, representing every lodge of Maccabees in the Monongahela valley. A banquet was served at 5:30 o'clock, which was followed by the class initiation at 7 o'clock Drills by the visiting reviews at 8 o'clock proved a feature of the evening Following the drill exercises, Charleroi, Brownsville, and Monessen lodges gave a play exemplifying the work of the Maccabees. There were 76 candidates for initiation Brownsville was a winner in a membership contest with Charleroi.

The winners received a handsome loving cup as a fitting reward for their efforts. Mrs. Mary Davis of Charleroi, made the presentation. Mrs. Mary Edwards received the cup and made reply Among the visitors present were Miss Nellie E. Lounsbury of Warren, state chief; Mrs. Harry T. Hardwick, of Uniontown; and Miss Nora Hurst, assistant superintendent of the Memorial hospital, who were the guests of honor.

REVENGE MOTIVE FOR DYNAMITING

Blighting of Romance And Wedding Festivities Aroused Bitter Slavonic Hatred, According to the Investigation Made

SEVERAL UNDER ARREST

Daniel Zenoff Seems to Have Been Leader — Summoned Friends to Aid Him In Plot of Vengeance Against Justice of the Peace Tennyson

Investigations seem to prove that vengeance because of the arrest of a wife, and the confiscation of liquor intended for a wedding celebration was the motive which prompted the dynamiting outrage at Slovan on August 14, in which the residence of Justice of the Peace Henry Tennyson was wrecked and thousands of dollars damage done to other properties in the mining town, adjoining Burgettstown, according to facts which are in the possession of Chief County Detective William B. Dinsmore.

His Russian hatred aroused by the blighting of his romance, Daniel Zenoff, aged 27, who until the outrage was committed had resided in Slovan is believed to have fostered the plot in an effort to secure revenge to which his Slavonic reasoning led him to believe that he was entitled.

Zenoff, two of his alleged companions, and material witnesses are under arrest as a result of an investigation which has been conducted by Chief County Detective Dinsmore for several days and the last of the four principals will probably be taken into custody soon, if he is not already under arrest.

Facts in possession of the district attorney's office indicate that the dynamiting outrage was the culmination of Zenoff's elopement to Welisburg with Mary Marosky, aged 18, and their marriage there August 1, In keeping with Slavonic custom Kenoff planned an elaborate celebration of his marriage and an essential for the festivities was an alcoholic beverage.

Zenoff made arrangements with Pittsburgh friends and acquaintances to supply him with his beverages. They delivered it but the day before the celebration, Kenoff's young wife was arrested for violation of a parole from the Pennsylvania Training school at Morganza and the whisky he had purchased was taken by Constable James E. Adams of Slovan.

Motion Picture Houses In Erie Keep Open On The Sabbath Day

Erie, November 22.—While the rest of the state has been observing the blue laws in regard to Sunday theatres and amusements, this city has been careful to keep its motion picture houses open on the Sabbath and until recently escaped prosecution.

However, twelve managers of motion picture houses have been arrested and fined $4 and costs and they intend to go to the highest court with their case.

"The law of 1794 under which this prosecution is based is not fitting to the standards of the twentieth century," declared a firm of attorneys retained by the motion picture men.

"We are not fighting for a principle. It is not the fine we care for as under the law the violator can be fined only $4 and costs. The supreme court of the state has ruled that certain sections of the blue laws are ineffective."

Sunday theatres in Erie are being bitterly fought by Rev. H. C. Shaw, pastor of a local Methodist Episcopal church and president of the Law Enforcement league. He has also stated he plans to make a finish fight.

Seeing a motion picture in Erie on Sunday is rather dull business, as no music is played, but many prefer their amusement that way rather than being without pictures at all

FORMER RESIDENT DIES AT NEW GENEVA, PA.

John [illegible] formerly of this place, died [illegible] e of his daughter, Mr[illegible]iger of New Geneva, [illegible]ing. Mr. Crites, who w[illegible]nd 7 months old, had been critically ill for the past eight weeks. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Agnes Paden Crites, two daughters, Mrs. Charles Hager and Mrs. Edward Strausser of Detroit, Michigan and one son, William Crites of Fallowfield avenue, Charleroi. The deceased was a member of the First Presbyterian church of this place.

CIVIL WAR BUGLER DIES

Daniel W. Vanatta, aged 82 years, died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. L. King, 521 Jefferson avenue, Washington. He was born and reared at Wind Ridge.

Mr. Vanatta was a veteran of the Civil war, being a bugler of Company C, Eighth Pennsylvania cavalry. He was in action in the battle of the Wilderness and was a member of William Smith Post No. 428, G. A. R.

He and his wife, Sarah G. Vanatta, had lived with their daughter for some time. Besides his wife and daughter, he leaves a brother, John G. Vanatta of St. Charles, Ia.

Funeral services will be held at the late home tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Interment will be in the Washington cemetery.

THE CORPSE IS STILL UNKNOWN

Chief of Police James A. Murphy received word from the insurance company in New Jersey that it had no record of a policy issued in favor of the number which the key ring found on the person of the fatally wounded man indicated, and the corpse of the unknown still remains at the mortuary of Michael T. Crowley, where it was viewed by many local folk yesterday.

Reference is made to the unknown, who died from injuries sustained at the Charleroi-Monessen hospital yesterday morning when struck by an automobile driven by Clyde Glenn Frye of Twilight.

The man was penniless and what he was doing in this section of the country, is a mystery. He was quite well dressed for a man who was evidently up against the rocks of financial disaster. From his appearance, it is our opinion that the corpse was a man of foreign persuasion.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 22—The body of Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, who died here yesterday, was incased today in a black metal casket, an exact duplicate of that in which the late president lies.

Monday afternoon it will be laid away beside the body of Mr. Harding in the receiving vault of Marion cemetery, pending completion of the Harding Memorial. Arrangements for the funeral were completed today, as messages of sympathy and tributes continued to pour in from throughout the land.

The Republican glee club of Columbus will sing "The End of a Perfect Day," Mrs. Harding's favorite song It will be the only song rendered during the service.

NINE YEAR OLD IS PLAINTIFF

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22—A nine year-old child, Vivian L. Pippert, is plaintiff in a $20,000 damage suit brought against the Pennsylvania Railroad to compensate it for the deaths of its father and mother who were killed as a result of a grade crossing accident at Kittanning, Pa., September 8

Frank L. Pippert and his wife and nine-months-old grother were killed when their automobile was struck by a train. It is alleged in the suit that no watchman was at the crossing that no signal of the approaching train was given, and that the engineer failed to blow his whistle.

OPENING OF HIGHWAY ON THANKSGIVING

It has been announced that on Thanksgiving day the people of the vicinity will have one more thing to be thankful for, and that is the opening of the Bentleyville road. This week the Maple Creek highway was thrown open for use making a splendid road through to Bentleyville. The section of the highway leading from Bentleyville to the foot of Peterman's hill which was in deplorable condition, has been under construction for some time, and will be ready for traffic on Thanksgiving morning.

Mrs. Sheatsley Was Dead When Body Placed In Furnace

Bulletin

Canton Ohio, Nov. 22—"I have no reason at this time for changing my belief that my wife took her own life," Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, husband of Addie Shettsley, whose remains were found last Monday in the Lutheran parsonage furnace at Columbus, said today.

The pastor said he had received the report of the chemist analysis indicating the theory that Mrs. Sheatsley was strangled to death, "but they have not changed my opinion."

"I expect to be here until Monday, where the prosecutor at Columbus can find me at any time."

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 22.—The veil of mystery was lifted from the Sheatsley furnace tragedy today just enough to make the circumstance of her death even more puzzling.

The startling revelation that Mrs. Addie Sheatsley met death by strangulation or suffocation and that her body was not stuffed into the firebox until after she had stopped breathing was made to John R. King, Franklin county prosecutor, late last night by Charles Long, the chemist who analyzed her charred remains.

The prosecutor was apparently stunned by this unexpected turn in the strange case to which he has given every minute of his time since Rev. C. V. Sheatsley announced the finding of his wife's body smouldering on a bed of coals in the Lutheran parsonage furnace last Monday night.

The chemist reported to King upon the prosecutor's return to Columbus near midnight from Canton where he had questioned relatives of the furnace victim in a fruitless attempt to find support for his belief that she was murdered.

"This is much worse than I had expected," King said after reading the report of the analysis. "I can only say that we will now redouble our efforts. Nothing will be spared to find a solution of this mystery."

Long's report disclosed:

1—An intense congestion of the lungs such as might result from strangulation or suffocation.

2—Not a trace of carbon-monoxide which certainly would have been inhaled had Mrs. Sheatsley entered the furnace alive.

3—No trace of carbolic acid. (Clarence, one of the pastor's sons, had reported that a bottle of acid was missing from the bathroom and a piece of broken glass was found in the ashes of the furnace).

4—No trace of soot or ashes which might have been breathed into the lungs.

AUDITOR TO GIVE FINANCE FIGURES

Final work of ending the Pittsburgh Railways Company receivership begun yesterday [illegible] Former Judge Henry G. Wasson, special master in the case, will be continued Monday morning at 10 o'clock at another hearing at which C. S. Mitchell, auditor of the company, will furnish figures pertaining to finances under the receivership. The property was restored to the company last February.

Counsel for the railways company did not oppose claims made against the company yesterday. The receivers will make no claims, but will leave to the court the amount of compensation to be paid them and their counsel it was disclosed. The receivers are Charles A. Fagan, W. D. George and S. L. Tone.

It developed at the hearing that the receivers have paid no money out of the $500,000 left in their hands last April and that payment of their counsel and others ceased February 1, when the company took over the property. The receivers will be discharged officially when Mr. Wasson's report on the case is approved by the United States District Court.

While struggling for possession of a revolver with which she had threatened to shoot her husband, James Ahiolas, a Greek, Anna Ahiolas, aged 25, a Bohemian, of East Canonsburg, was wounded in the right arm with the same bullet that lodged in her husband's abdomen Thursday afternoon in their room in the Pihakis building in East Canonsburg. The bullet passed through Ahiolas' bowels and lodged in his back, but it is believed he

According to the witness, she threatened to shoot her husband and their eight-year-old son.

Laskos and Ahiolas tried to calm the woman but she became violent and fired into the ceiling. Then Ahiolas attempted to take the pistol, a .35 calibre automatic. During the scuffle it was discharged again, wounding the woman in the right arm and striking Ahiolas in the abdomen.

When the police arrived they took [illegible] to the Canonsburg hospital, where her arm was dressed, after which she was lodged in the borough lockup. She was lodged in the Washington jail yesterday afternoon.

The trouble seems to have been the result of too much dandelion wine. ## Monongahela Makes A Valiant Struggle But Charleroi Wins 23 to 7

Coach Stepanian's proteges kept heir slate clean by taking Monongahela over to the tune of 23-7 at Monongahela yesterday. The contest became a highly interesting one after fonon's poor showing in the first alf netting only one earned first own and appearing to hold up gainst the Red and Black's slashing ttacks only in a few instances. The econd half, however, after Charlen a Monongahela fumble and a fluke ick off their goal posts, became a eal battle. Coach Wiermen's lads reaking out in a passing rampage at finally netted them their only ouchdown, at the same time holding he Charleroi aggregation scoreless, lthough they had driven up to the ell-known shadows just as the histle ended the exciting conflict iving the Red and Black a hard-ought victory.

After a rather poor showing on ononghahela's part in the first half, e game turned into a highly interting one for the remainder of the me. Charleroi took Monongahela's ck on the 20 and marched straight the field to Monongahela's 25 by a ries of off tackle and end plays, tting five first downs in the rush. e longest gain was Crytzer's 20-rd plunge. Wasting two downs on enemy's 25, Crabb attempted a op kick, which sailed high over the for the first score of the game. Monongahela, unable to penetrate arleroi's defense, kicked for safety to Charleroi's 35, from where the Charleroi machine carried it to the five-yard line by a series of slashing attacks off the tackles. Unluckily a 15-yard penalty for holding caused Charleroi to lose the ball on Monongahela's 11. Smith, kicking from behind his goal, punted into the goal post, Charleroi recovering the diverted ball on Monongahela's 10-yard line. From here five yards by Crytzer and Crabb's right side of the line. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful. The half ended a few minutes later with Smith slipping off 11 yards for Monongahela.

The Charleroi boys scored early in the second half when Johns recovered a Mon City fumble on their 30-yard line, paving the way for Crytzer's plunge over the line a few minutes later after large gains by Crabb and Paterline. Following the next kickoff Monongahela, unable to gain through the line, opened up their aerial attack, but were nipped in the bud when Paterline intercepted a long one on Monongahela's 30 and scampered 20 yards before he was stopped. Without any delay Crabb went over scoring with his placement kick for the point after touchdown.

From here on it was a different story. The fighting Monongahela team turned the tables by intercepting a Charleroi pass and running 30 yards to Charleroi's 20, Smith plunging it to the two-yard line, where it was only by the stone-wall-like playing of the Charleroi lads that the score was saved.

Crabb, forced to kick from behind the post, punted into the crowd on his own 20. Another long forward to Booth placed the leather on Charleroi's one yard line, where Smith dashed over on a delayed play for Monon's only score. A few seconds later he made it seven with a placement.

Smith, Abbot and Booth at passing [illegible] the other hand, Crytzer's wellnigh unstoppable line plunging, and Capt. O'Brien, Crabb and Paterline's consistent playing, not forgetting the line's great defense work, showed up well for the visitors. The lineup:

| Charleroi—23. | | Monongahela—7. |

Norwin, Jeannette Eliminated; New Castle Is Upheld

The meeting of the decision committee of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League, held at the Fort Pitt Hotel last evening, eliminated two teams from further competition for the cup offered by Syracuse University and gave one a clean slate.

Norwin and Jeannette were the teams eliminated and New Castle the vindicated one. New Castle protested the Jeannette victory on the grounds that the Rubber City team was using players who were over the age limit of 21 years. Their protest was sustained by the league.

Jeannette protested the Norwin victory stating that the Irwin school used three players who do not live in Irwin. This also was upheld by the league. Norwin was the only team of the three that boasted of a clean slate, having defeated Jeannette a week after the Rubber City [illegible] and downed New Castle.

Three more decisions were rendered by the committee. Ben Avon, it was found, was using a player named Boggs who had previously played his four years of scholastic sports. Swissvale was the protester in this case and won the verdict. In the case of the Monongahela and California dispute, the committee ruled that they take no action on an official's decision after said official had been agreed upon by the schools involved.

In the Bellevue-Evans City case, decision was withheld until the committee can investigate the matter further. This leaves the situation in about the same mix. The Syracuse Cup committee, previous to the meeting, had five teams to pick from, and despite the rulings of the decisions body last evening the situation remains the same.

Another decision was rendered by the committee at the previous meeting a few months ago which involved Homestead and Munhall. Both Slater and Markowitz, the disputed players, on account of their residence, were not allowed to play football. A mistake was made in the decision and the Homestead team cannot use either Slater or Markowitz in any branch of athletics, according to the committee.

BUTTON GIVEN GREAT LACING BY BOB SAGE

Bob Sage, Detroit barnister fighter, won a decisive victory at Detroit last night and Billy Button of Kansas City in a 10-round bout. Sage is no Greb when it comes to dumping gloves on a hapless opponent, yet he was so much faster than Britton that he won seven of the 10 rounds, knocked Britton down twice and otherwise ruined a perfectly good reputation that had preceded Britton.

Sage fought one of his best fights before a Detroit crowd. He was positively savage in the first two rounds in each of which Britton was propelled to the floor by a snappy punch the first time by a short right hook and on the other occasion by a stab from the other hand delivered the same way.

Nobody expected middleweights to maintain the pace at which Sage and Britton started and sustained through the fourth round. Neither was anybody disappointed. Lightweights rarely step along faster than the middles did in those four rounds, but they couldn't hold that gait and as the succeeding rounds melted away, so did the stamina of the boys, who slowed up to a walk from the beginning of the fifth.

BALL PLAYERS THROW PENNIES INTO FOUNTAIN

Rome, Nov. 22.—Members of the touring White Sox and Giants threw pennies into the Trevi fountain here today as a token that they wished to return to Rome. Hughie Jennings headed the baseball players' delegations which included "Muddy" Ruhl and Sammy Rice of World's series fame, Johnny Evers, "Stuffy" McInnis and Dave Bancroft.

The pope later received the players and bestowed upon them the apostolic benediction. The party heard the first mass said by the Rev. Michael O'Connor, of Scranton, Pa., before St. Peter's tomb.

QUANTICO MARINES MEET CARNEGIE TECH TODAY

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22.—It will be a case of trick plays versus brute strength and greater experience when Carnegie Tech meets the powerful Quantico Marines on Forbes Field today.

Coming to Pittsburgh after a week at State College, where they got special instruction from Hugo Bezdek, the Marines are likely to prove a formidable opponent. Carnegie is game, however, and in a fighting mood.

Riches Have Wings

I can remember when I was more enriched by a few cheap rays of light falling on the pond-side than by this broad sunny day. Riches have wings, indeed. The weight of present woe will express the sweetness of past experience. When sorrow comes, how easy it is to remember pleasure! When, in winter, the bees cannot make new honey, they consume the old.—Thoreau.

Richest in Animal Life

Back from the Nazaruni river, South America, a party of explorers led by Dr. William Beebe reports that in a single quarter of a square mile of tropical jungle—believed to be the richest in animal life in the world—it discovered 777 different sorts of vertebrates. Of these, 450 species were birds—a greater variety than occurs in the whole continent of North America.—Collier's Magazine.

Mirthless Laughter

All hyenas do not laugh, and those that do—the spotted hyenas—are not inspired by merriment. Their "laughter"—it is a horrid sound—generally indicates annoyance. In fact, so-called laughter in the animal kingdom is the reverse of happy, for the jackal gives a weird laugh when it is being pursued by its enemies.

Food Properties

Mothers of growing children in preparing their foods should consider well properties foods contain. Lime for bonemaking is obtained from milk and carrots, iron for blood from spinach, egg yolk and liver and lean meat, cabbage, raisins and tomatoes; the phosphorus from fish, beans, peas and whole grains.

Seemed Fitted to Survive

Some of the edentates of former times were creatures of immense size, such as the extinct glyptodon, whose great convex shell was remarkable for its strength. Why such a form as the glyptodon should have failed to keep his ground, says one authority, is a great mystery.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Whale's Small Throat

The blue whale sometimes reaches a length of 80 or 85 feet, says Nature Magazine. The opened mouth of one of these monsters is so large that 10 or 12 men can stand upright in its depths, yet the throat measures only about eight inches in diameter.

Don't think that dollars can be acquired without sense.

Development of Child Told by Wrist Bones

A horse's teeth tell his age; a child's wrist bones indicate his. By means of X-ray photographs one can tell how old a child is or, more important, whether he is properly developed for his years.

At one year of age a child has two bones in the wrist; at five he has six; at fourteen he has eight. Thus he has what scientists call an anatomical age.

Girls are usually in advance of boys in their anatomical development at any given age, says a high authority of the Iowa child welfare research station in Hygeia, health magazine published by the American Medical association.

As far as height and weight measurements are concerned, girls are approximately as heavy as boys for their respective heights, but are shorter and lighter at each age. They are more variable in growth than boys.

The authority, a physician, has drawn his conclusions from thousands of repeated physical measurements on nude children and his tables giving the average weight of boys and girls for each inch in height from every age from five to nineteen are said to be the most accurate tables for American-born children.

Odd Forms of "Money" Employed in Africa

There are three modes of buying and selling. The first is to exchange article for article, direct. The second is by using a useful medium of exchange, which we will call currency. The third is the Western method of using a useless object in exchange; this we will call money.

In South Africa we get the natives using cattle as currency, exchanging cattle for goods and the same cattle changing hands for other goods. More usually, however, we get barter pure and simple. Ivory and useful objects to buy beads, trinkets, wire and other goods.

Farther north, in the Transvaal, we get actual money, in the shape of home-made wire, with a rough knob on the end. Farther west, in the Congo, we find H-shaped copper plates used as money. On the Upper Congo we find imitation swords serving the purpose, while lower down on the Stanley Falls we find the ax blade. (In many South African tribes we get the hoe so used.) In Sierra Leone we get an amusing imitation knife blade; one end is thin and twisted, the other widening to two points. The BaSongo and BaNkutu on the Congo use throwing knives.

World's Continents

Geographers usually recognize five continents: North America, South America, Eurasia, including Europe and Asia, Africa and Australia. A sixth continent is sometimes represented by the land area about the Antarctic region.

North American Species

Researches of the last 50 years or so have confirmed the opinion that the animals called edentates, which include sloths, anteaters, armadillos, etc., originated in North America and afterward migrated to other parts of the world.

In Rebellious Moments

We have our rebellious moments under all this weight of regulation when we feel like running this slogan up to the masthead: We will neither eat nor do anything that is represented as being good for us.—Ohio State Journal.

Famous Trotting Horse

Goldsmith Maid, the famous bay trotting mare, held the one mile trotting record from 1871 to 1874, taking it from Dexter in 2:17 and losing it to Rarus in 2:13¾. She lowered the record to 2:14 before losing it.

Infant Prodigy

Alexis Claude Clairaut, the celebrated French mathematician, at the age of six years understood infinitesimals, and at twelve read before the learned Academy of Science of Paris an original paper on curves.

Early Mystery Story

"The Castle of Otranto," a novel by Horace Walpole [illegible] earl of Oxford, was the forerunner of the modern mystery story, and its publication in 1764 started a vogue of such stories in England.

Prayer of Br'er Williams

Lord, show us de right road, an' of we don't travel it, please tell Satan to lay low an' not hit us too hard till he [illegible] stitution.

A Child's Description

A child's description of her first concert: There was a lady screaming and a waiter played on the piano all the time.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Not So Serious for Him

Man may be inferior, but he doesn't waste nervous energy worrying for fear he will freckle.—Duluth Herald.

New President Puts "Mexico For Mexicans" Policy Into Effect

Mexico's new president, Plutarco Elias Calles (right), is already putting his policy of "Mexico for Mexicans" into effect. He is seen with his predecessor, Alvaro Obregon (center), greeting crowds from the Mexican "White House" after inauguration.

1—Single control.
2—No outdoor antenna necessary.
3—No directional loop.
4—Wavelength or kilocycle pickup of stations, instead of meaningless degrees or numbers.
5—Cannot squeal or howl.
6—Cannot radiate.
7—Cannot distort.
8—The newspapers give the time and wavelength.
9—THERMIODYNE picks them up at the exact setting every time.
10—No logging of stations, nothing to remember.
11—Stations of different wavelength cannot interfere with each other.
12—A six tube receiver, three stages of Thermionic Frequency, detector and two stages of Audio Frequency.
13—Distance, volume, clear as a bell, without fuss of excuses.
14—A 180 degree turn of the single control is like an instantaneous tour of dozens of cities.

MRS. W. G. HARDING.

Mrs. W. G. Harding has passed beyond to join her late lamented husband, and has solved the mystery of mysteries. In her death, the nation mourns. She was a credit to her country, and as the one-time first lady of the land, she leaves a record which will reflect to her credit through the ages.

One cannot help but reflect on the brave struggle which she made for life; bearing her ill-health and griefs with a fortitude worthy of the brave and noble woman she was, and in passing from this mundane sphere, the nation, and her relatives and friends have the priceless heritage of the memory of one who well fitted her station in life, and filled with dignity the post which, as the wife of the President, she brought.

During the sickness and in the death of her husband, President Harding, when human nature was called upon to bear its burden of a sorrow which threatened to overwhelm, she comported herself with a resignation to the decree, bore her grief, and relied on an never-failing Omnipotence to alleviate and show her the wisdom in the taking of her husband.

At this time, while the nation sorrows with those near and dear left to mourn her passing, those bereft have the consolation that Mrs. Harding fought the good fight, and in answering the last great mandate, the transition for her as worthy is for the brightest and best.

Times have changed in more ways than those usually noted. The New York University professor who admits that he is engaged in an effort to turn mercury into gold would have been pronounced a lunatic twenty years ago, but now, we read, "there are among the physicists and chemists who out as much, though a different, belief in the possibility of transmuting the metal into another as there was in the 16th and 17th centuries." With alchemy come back into fashion, nobody from now on need be surprised at anything.

According to the vice-president of the National Surety Company, usually fat men are good risks because they are so much occupied with the pleasures of the table that they have no time for dishonest thoughts. Still, novelists of real imagination—with experience as its basis—have been known to make a fat man the villain and a convincing one at that.

Named Navigator Gave Name to Mont Royal

In the late summer of 1535, Jacques Cartier, a hardy, skilled navigator of St. Malo, France, sailed up the St. Lawrence river and reached the island standing at the junction of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers. On this island he found a race of Indians in a palisaded town of about 1,000 inhabitants, and living by a rude horticulture and fishing. This place is called Hochelaga. On the day following his arrival at the island, Cartier, with a few companions and twenty mariners, left his boats and, conducted by three natives, visited the town, which stood on rising ground about half a mile from the river at what is now the center of the city of Montreal. Cartier saw on all sides large and fairly well-tilled fields in which were growing abundant crops of maize or Indian corn. The town was fortified, and it contained about fifty houses made of wood and bark. On the town the visitors were conducted to the top of the mountain which rose to the west of the town. He named that mountain Mont Royal," wrote Cartier, in his account of his travels. "Therefrom one sees afar."

The name "Mont Royal" with slight variation gives us the name of today Montreal. The old name, Hochelaga, is preserved in the name of one of the streets of the city.

Curious Beliefs Held by Trinidad Natives

"Port of Spain is the principal city of the island of Trinidad in the West Indies and is the most colorful and cosmopolitan city in the world," says an American citizen, who has returned to his native land for a visit after an absence of two years, according to the Detroit News. "The streets of Port of Spain," he says, "present the appearance of a strange pageantry, so varied are the people. Strangest of all are the native black people. Here you will see nose rings and all sorts of weird styles in hairdressing. They are so fond of bracelets that their forearms, from wrist to elbow, are completely covered with all sorts of metal circlets. Nor is it unusual to see their lower limbs adorned in the same fashion.

"All our servants are these black people. They are excellent servants, but their many taboos and superstitions are very trying, unless you have a good sense of humor. They go by the moon and stars in everything. They refuse any sort of an undertaking unless the aspect of the moon is propitious. They also have special taboos pertaining to things hot and cold. None of them will, under any circumstances, put their hands into both hot and cold water on the same day. They believe that if they do this they will die in three days. By the moon they reckon time and forecast the future. By the moon they hold their pagan ceremonies, and one might say that by the moon they live and by the moon they die."

Legend of Unicorn

Medieval conception of the unicorn as possessing great strength and fierceness may have been partly due to the fact that in certain passages of the Old Testament, the word R'em (translated in the authorized version, unicorn) refers to a two-horned animal, savage and quarrelsome, subdued to gentleness only at the side of a virgin. The idea of purity is included in the significance of the unicorn used in many coats of arms.

Of the Same Family

Bullbat is a local name given to the nighthawk. Both the nighthawk and whippoorwill are nightjars. The markings on the throat of the nighthawk make it easily distinguished from the whippoorwill. This white mark is shaped like the letter V, a broad white bar, which extends across the first primary wing feathers. This is plainly visible when the bird is near by and flying.

Lucky Criminals

The Braganza, one of the largest diamonds in the world, was found by three criminals, who had been sent into exile among the cannibal tribes and wild beasts in the Brazilian interior. They took the stone to a priest, who turned it over to the governor. The gem became the glory of the crown jewels of Portugal, and the king, in gratitude, pardoned the exiles.

Odd Fact About Tobacco

A striking feature in the history of tobacco is the fact that its use has become so universal in the European countries where it was formerly so bitterly condemned—even punished with death—while it has become quite rare among its inventors, the Indians of Mexico. ### Absence Was Absence to This Timekeeper

The boss on a large construction job in western Canada was going over the accounts on pay day with the new timekeeper, who had been there only a week and was anxious to make a good impression. The pay checks were regular enough except that one showed one hour less than the rest.

"Look here," said the boss suspiciously. "I thought everybody put in full time last week."

"All except Abe Martin, the night watchman," the timekeeper answered "He was off duty one hour Wednesday night."

"Man alive!" exclaimed the astonished boss "That was the night Abe discovered the burglar setting fire to the commissary building after he had robbed the storekeeper's till. Why, didn't you hear about it? Everybody is calling Abe a hero and," he whispered confidentially, the railroad company is talking about rewarding him handsomely for what he did If he hadn't captured the fellow, thousands of dollars' worth of supplies would have gone up in smoke"

"Yes, I know," agreed the timekeeper. "I estimated the loss and figured that it would have run into as much as this job is worth."

"And Abe chased the fellow up into the hills" the boss continued "The fellow was desperate and took two or three shots at Abe. They struggled desperately before Abe finally overpowered him and forced him back to camp. It was an hour before he got him back, too"

"Sure," responded the timekeeper triumphantly. "I docked him for the time he was gone."—Youth's Companion.

Cheetah Described as Masterpiece of Nature

We call the cheetah the hunting leopard, but leopard he certainly is not. The leopard is heavier, more truly cat like. The cheetah is lighter in the body and mounted on abnormally long legs. The cheetah is a catlike greyhound. No other animal so oddly combines suggestions of such totally unrelated groups as the cats and dogs With a body about four and one-half feet in length and a tail half as long, the cheetah stands about thirty inches high at the shoulder and with his long forearms and hocks reaching almost down to the foot he is built exactly as man has tried to build the greyhound during hundreds of years

So far as we know no records exist to tell the speed of this wonderful beast, but hunters agree that for a short distance the cheetah is beyond comparison the fleetest creature that treads the earth It is a masterpiece of nature To the lion, the tiger and the leopard it is what the airplane is to the ocean liner, the swift destroyer to the battleship.—London My Magazine.

Odd "Restitution"

There is on record one Edward Hunt, who played a rather dirty trick on his only son. It seems that the old gentleman had one time wronged another man—had beaten him out of a large sum of money and otherwise worsted him. The fellow had died, but Hunt's conscience still troubled him. When it came to dying he decided he would make some kind of restitution, so he ordained that his twenty one-year-old son, in order to fall heir to his fortune must hunt out and marry the daughter of the other man—that is, if the daughter existed, and if not a daughter, then a niece.

The young man did as he was bidden in his father's will and found the daughter, but she was fifty-five years old. He was a good sport, however, and, with the woman willing, carried out his father's wishes.

Old-Time Oratory

When in the house of commons Sheridan made his famous speech on the spoliation of the Begums of Oude, he was offered, within 24 hours, £1,000 for the copyright. Burke's subsequent plea for the impeachment of Warren Hastings had even more dramatic effect, as we may read in the pages of Macaulay. "Handkerchiefs were pulled out, smelling bottles were handed round, hysterical sobs and screams were heard, and Mrs. Sheridan was carried out in a fit."

In Society's Realm

The Elks ball room will be the scene of another Elks dance next Wednesday, November 26. Mort Clavener and his famous recording orchestra will be the attraction at this Thanksgiving dance. Invitations have already been issued by the committee and a record breaking crowd is expected.

The Athene club members met at the home of Miss Elizabeth Hastings of Lincoln avenue yesterday afternoon in their regular bi-monthly meeting. Poets and their poetry was the topic of discussion. Mrs. J. W. Ferman gave an interesting account of the present day poetry, while Mrs. J. Clive Enos dwelt on the lives of Canadian poets, William Henry Drummond and Bliss Carmen. Quotations from Whittier were given in response to the roll call.

"Lynch Law" American Term

The term 'lynch law,' says the Kansas City Star, is said to be derived from the name of Charles Lynch (1736-1796), a patriot Virginian, who, in company with Robert Adams and Thomas Calloway, undertook to inflict summary punishment on outlaws and Tories during the war of the Revolution These punishments were limited to flogging and banishment The origin of this term, however, is in doubt.

Flies in Winter

Experiments have shown that the cold weather may be passed by the fly in the larval and pupal stages. British scientists, after prolonged experiments, failed to find a single overwintering adult house fly. But there is considerable discrepancy of observation on this subject although it is true that the fly population would be overwhelming if the cold of winter did not check its activities

Earth Likened to Flywheel

The naval observatory says that the earth is a globular mass, rigid as steel, revolving freely in space There is no friction due to this rotation and no vibration. Consequently there is no noise. The earth is often likened to an immense flywheel, and to anyone who has seen a large flywheel of steel revolving silently, but with great rapidity, the comparison is striking.

Originally Egyptian

Adobe is a word traceable to an Egyptian hieroglyph signifying "brick" From this origin it became at-tob in Arabic, and in Spanish it became adobar, meaning "to daub or plaster." The term adobe was adopted in the United States from Mexico to designate the process of molding sun-dried bricks in a wooden frame for building houses and garden walls.

Unflattering Cognomen

Coober Pedy, the home of the famous South Australian black opal, is 100 miles from anywhere and probably the most primitive village in the British empire The Australian blacks christened it Coober Pedy, or "white man living in a hole," and it is said to well deserve its name.

No Suicide Among Snakes

The biological survey says that rattlesnakes are susceptible to their own poison and may cause death by biting themselves. Snakes are not likely to bite themselves except when severely injured or infuriated and unable to wreak vengeance on their tormentors

First Great Clockmaker

Chauncey Jerome was the noted the one-day brass clock movement, which enormously increased the American clock business and opened a market for American clocks in Europe. He was born in Canaan, Conn., in 1793.

Chunk of Wisdom

Andy Gump gives this advice to auto speeders: "Don't forget that you can beat some of the trains to the crossing all of the time, and you can beat all the trains to the crossing some of the time, but you can't beat all the trains to the crossing all the time."

FIRST WOMAN TO BE DIPLOMATIC ENVOY

Appointment by Russia Makes New Step.

Washington, D. C.—"The recent promotion of Madame Alexandra Kollontai to be the full-fledged 'envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary' from Soviet Russia to Norway at the same time that Professor Timothy A. Smiddy is given a similar position in Washington from heretofore envoyless Ireland, makes diplomatic history," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C, headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Madame Kollontai is the first feminine 'minister plenipoteutiary' to enter the diplomatic corps," continues the bulletin, "since that specific position and body were recognized by the congress of Vienna in 1815 and the follow-up congress of Aix-la-Chapelle in 1818; and she is one of the very few women ever to become an envoy of a sovereign state. Catherine of Aragon is the most famous predecessor of Madame Kollontai, and she hardly deserves a similar classification. While she was princess of Wales, her father, Ferdinand the [illegible] to the court of Henry VII. It was a hollow honor, largely to increase her prestige with the English.

Woman Minister Real Worker.

"Madame Kollontai is considered to have won her laurels by real work on behalf of her government while serving for the past two years as charge d'affaires in Norway [illegible] successfully negotiated recognition of the Soviet government by Norway, settled the controversy between the two countries over Spitsbergen, and obtained an official Norwegian guarantee of Soviet credit in purchasing huge supplies of fish for Russia.

"The appointment of Professor Smiddy is somewhat less precedent-smashing. From the Sixteenth century until the beginning of the Nineteenth the component states of the so-called Holy Roman empire sent envoys to foreign courts. The situation was not entirely parallel with that of the modern British 'empire,' however, for the Holy Roman emperor, was never represented by envoys—on the theory that his dignity was too great. The simultaneous existence now of an ambassador from an over-state and a minister from one of its component parts, sets a true precedent.

"The growth of the diplomatic corps as an institution has been slow. Special envoys undoubtedly were sent from court to court of the earliest historic empires such as those of Egypt and Babylonia Later in Grecian, Roman and Byzantine days the practice was fairly common. But in all such cases, as far as history discloses, the messengers were sent to transact specific business and returned as soon as possible to report the results of their mission.

"In the west the republic of Venice seems to have been the pioneer in the establishment of embassies. In the Twelfth and Thirteenth centuries the terms of Venetian envoys were limited to two or three months. Strict rules hedged them round Any gifts received from courts visited must be turned over to the republic and written reports had to be filed with the senate. In the Fifteenth century the ambassadorial term was extended to a maximum of two years and in the Sixteenth century, to three years.

First Embassies in Italy.

"The earliest record of the appointment of a resident ambassador—though probably this was not the first ambassador so appointed—was in regard to the sending in 1455 of an envoy from the Duke of Milan to reside at Genoa. One of the first permanent embassies outside Italy was created in 1494 when Milan sent a minister to take up his residence at the court of France. In the same year a Spanish ambassador went to reside in London. This is believed to be the oldest surviving diplomatic post in existence. By the second half of the Sixteenth century resident embassies had become the normal means of intercourse between important countries.

"The term, 'ambassador,' was given to the world by Venice where it first appeared in the form 'ambasiator' in a decree of 1268 At first there were no degrees among the envoys of states. The ambassador was considered the vicar of his sovereign and was received with royal honors and had to maintain a sort of little court. This became embarrassing both because of the expense and because it was a handicap in attending to business. The custom grew, therefore, of sending less important individuals as envoys or messengers. These, not hedged about by pomp, proved much more efficient agents. Later again it became customary to accord the rank of the envoy to the importance of the country sending or receiving him, and a gradation in representatives grew up"

Site of Bat Cave to Be Held

Washington.—Discovery of mineral deposits in Bat cave in Arizona has prompted the Interior department to retain for the government the site, embracing about 500 square feet, which was sought by the Santa Fe railroad. Mineral in the form of guano, it was explained, is reported to be present in large deposits, and the original rock debris in the cave appears to be saturated with nitrates and phosphates. The mineralization is ascribed to the fact that the cave for many years has been the breeding place for millions of bats.

You Can Pay Your Bills Promptly

Through no particular fault of your own, through a combination of circumstances, you may today be faced with a group of unpaid bills which are causing you a great deal of embarrassment. You intend to pay those bills, and you want to pay them, but you cannot do it all at once.

In the meantime your credit suffers; you worry; the man to whom you owe the money worries and wonders how he can carry on his business.

But there's a way out—a sensible, easy way.

Without any security other than an endorser (and the man to whom you owe money will very probably be glad to act in that capacity), you can, from this real Community Asset, secure as much as $300.00. No other security—just a co-maker.

You pay back to us the sum you borrow in convenient weekly or monthly sums. And for the service we charge you a small rate of interest.

Your obligation through this method is discharged at one time—the merchant has his money with which to continue his business—your credit is unimpaired, and the community financially is more sound.

The Community Savings & Loan Co. is a service and asset at your disposal.

AN ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK IS MADE

The second attempted bank robbery in Westmoreland county within the past two weeks, was perpetrated Thursday shortly after the noon hour at the Peoples National bank, Delmont.

A well dressed young man in a roadster with a woman companion drove up to the bank and while his companion remained in the car he entered the bank and going to the window of Cachier A. H. Beatty he shoved a revolver through the window and said: "We need money pretty bad." The cashier with presence of mind and while gazing into the muzzle of the gun tramped on a burglar alarm. The ringing of the alarm frightened the would-be robber and he fled from the bank and jumping into his car made his escape.

A posse was quickly formed and state police at Greensburg notified but the fugitive headed towards Greensburg made his escape.

REVENGE MOTIVE FOR DYNAMITING

"I had nothing left to live for," said Zenoff in a statement made to Chief County Detective Dinsmore.

Under arrest as principals in the outrage, held under $15,000 bail are: Daniel Zenoff, aged 27, formerly of Slovan, but who recently had been employed at Woodlawn; Mike Starzynski, aged 30, waiter, of 2211 Tustin street, Pittsburgh, and Ignatz Kuczynski, aged 29, salesman of 109 42nd street, Pittsburgh.

Wanted as one of the four principals is Carl Luchewick, aged about 30, formerly of Pittsburgh.

Held as material witnesses are Mike Simons, aged 18, who had resided in Slovan but at the prompting of Zenoff left that town and secured employment at Woodlawn, and Mike Vaselento of Slovan, who conducts a tailor shop at that place.

Zenoff, Starzynski, Kuczynski, and Luchewick have all been charged with malicious mischief by use of explosives and unlawful placing of explosives and will be given a hearing before Alderman J. F. Carmichael Friday, November 28.

WOMAN PICKED UP WEARING DIAMONDS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22.—Found wandering aimlessly in the street near the Pennsylvania Railroad station, Mrs. Kathryn Hoffman of 215 Manhatton street, New York City, was taken into custody today by city detectives.

Diamonds valued at $2,000 were found in her possession.

Police believe the woman was drugged, for, when questioned, she still believed she was in New York.

Paint Salesman's Joke

A woman complaining to the paint-store man that the floor paint he had sold her would not stick to the floor, while everything that fell on it stuck to the paint, suggested that probably she had opened the can upside down.

Some Go Even Further

After straining over examination papers for a week, a divinity student entered the pulpit Sunday. After reading the Ten Commandments the confused student added: "Only five of these need be attempted."

Find Friends in Books

Books are true friends that will neither flatter nor dissemble: be you but true yourself, applying that which they teach unto the party grieved, and you shall need no other comfort or counsel.—Exchange.

Officer Rewarded for Bravery He's Forgotten

Fargo, N. D.—That rewards although sometimes long in coming, inevitably find their way home, is proved by the experience of Lieut. Col. F. M. Steele of Fargo, who has just received a citation for gallantry in action in the Spanish-American war. He says the incident is so far in the past that he cannot recall it.

"For gallantry in action against the Spanish forces at Santiago, Cuba, July 1, 1898, is the only explanation the citation gives. Colonel Steele was then first lieutenant, First calvary brigade, U. S. A. The citation entitles him to wear "one silver citation star on the ribbon of your Spanish campaign medal or service ribbon pertinent thereto."

Ancient Prayer Swindle Revived $325 Worth

St. Louis, Mo.—The time honored "prayer" swindle has come to life here. The basic idea is that the victim will receive a large sum of money if he will pray each night for a certain dead person. But he must prove he is responsible by displaying some money. Joe Morelli was to receive $5,000. He proved his solvency by donating $325. It's missing and Joe wants the police to find two gentlemen of glib tongue [illegible] Catando and Louis Prizzi.

Women of Odd Ideals

I have met with women who I really think would like to be married to a poem and to be given away by a novel. —Yeats.

Earth's Surface

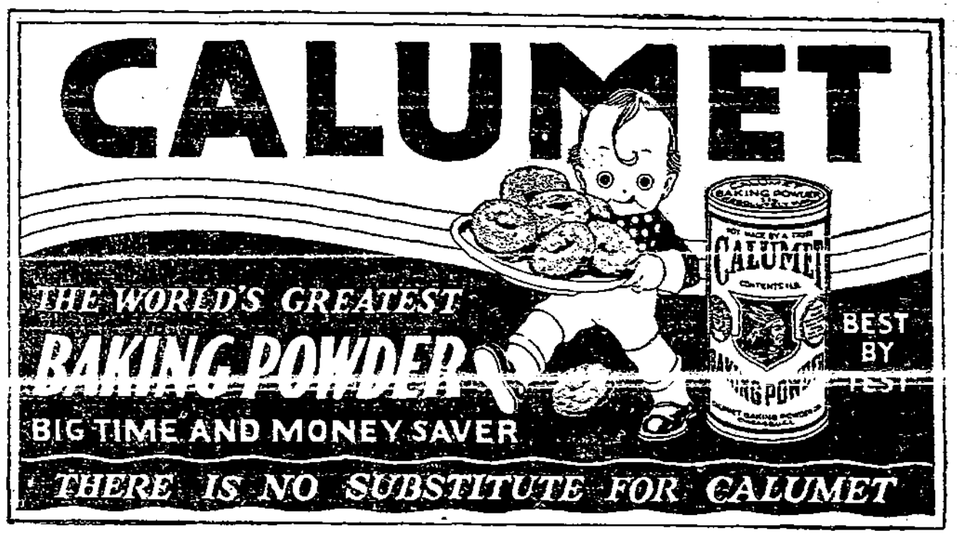
The earth's surface consists approximately of 57,000,000 square miles of land and 140,000,000 square miles of water.

No matter what brand of baking powder you use, you may have success with your baking today—but what about tomorrow, or next week. Uniformity—unfailing success every day in the year—that's the biggest mark of merit a leavener can have—and that's the very thing that has made Calumet Baking Powder the preferred bake-day aid of America.



If you doubt the unusual quality of Calumet, make a test—bake a cake with any baking powder you may select—then use the same recipe and employ Calumet.

This very test has caused millions upon millions of women to turn from a baking powder they had used for years—it has proven to them that the "Best by Test" leavener is the purest that money can buy. For better bakings—day in and day out—use Calumet.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce cans instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Army Flyer's Own Story of Their Flight Around the World

All the world has been waiting to hear the real, complete story of the greatest, most significant adventure of modern time.

The meagre news of the start of the aeronauts of six nations for a flight around the world was read with intense interest. It will be remembered that one by one the flyers of five other nations dropped out of the race. Only the six intrepid Americans completely circumnavigated the globe—a stupendous achievement.

Now, by the pen of Lowell Thomas, himself an explorer, a lover of adventure and author, these six American Army officers, tell their story of hardships, of privation, of hair-breath escapes from death, of thrills of near defeat, of final glorous success.

The story is full of romance, of adventure, of information—all truth more fascinating than fiction. Every man, woman and child should read it.

Today and Yesterday

FEW youngsters to-day ever saw a horse-hair sofa. They wouldn't know what to do with a fire taper, carpet stretcher, or coal oil lamp. They couldn't braid rags into a rug, or wind yarn without tangling. But they know the how and why of typewriters, phonographs, radios, telephones, automobiles; what happens when a push of the button gives light, or a kodak's flash fixes their image on paper.

Their education is as modern as the advertisements they see. They have no more use for the lamp and chimney of yesterday than you for the wick and tallow of the day before.

Advertisements induce such progress. They urge wide use that means improvement. They help you lift the out-of-date into the attic—rid you of the water buckets and soap kettles of slavedom. They bring late improvements within your reach.

Read the advertisements regularly. Keep alert to the new.

Without advertising, you would never know a product's worth until you had bought it
